Financial help has increased and more people are now eligible to receive it.
The federal government recently passed a COVID-19 relief law that helps make health insurance more affordable through the Affordable Care Act (ACA), sometimes called Obamacare. The new law increases financial assistance and makes more Floridians eligible to receive it.

Currently have an ACA (Obamacare) plan?
You may be eligible for more financial assistance to lower your monthly bill or upgrade your plan at no additional cost.

Didn’t qualify for financial help in the past?
If you were told your income is too high for financial assistance (a subsidy), you may now qualify. No matter your age, income or where you live in Florida, you may be eligible to enroll in an ACA plan that costs no more than 8.5% of your family income – and it could be less.

Receive unemployment in 2021?
If you received an unemployment payment in 2021, even if only for one week, you may be eligible for additional financial assistance to lower your monthly health insurance bill even more.

Afraid you missed your chance to sign-up?
Due to the pandemic, there is a special opportunity to sign-up for an ACA plan until August 15. If you don’t have health insurance for any reason, and are eligible for an ACA plan, you can sign up now to protect you and your family in 2021.
